

MORNING APPEAL.

THURSDAY... SEPTEMBER 26

The indications point to a change in the methods of the Pension office but how radical the change is to be it is impossible to say. Deputy Commissioner Smith, who is acting Commissioner has reversed two of Commissioner Tanner's most important rulings, and as he is only temporarily in charge of the office it is inferred that he would scarcely have done so without orders from his superior officer, thus Secretary Noble is credited with being responsible for the two reversals. The orders revoked are, the one directing that all pensioners receiving less than $4 per month can upon application be examined for a re-rating and the order making the evidence of one private sufficient to establish original disability. It is generally believed that he will be appointed Recorder of Deeds for this District, a position which pays more money than any other here, with the exception of the Presidency.

Ex-Representative and ex-commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. having declined the appointment of Commissioner not feeling able to sacrifice his present lucrative legal practice, the President has tendered the appointment to General George S. Merrill, of Massachusetts, and while his acceptance has not been officially promulgated, it is regarded here as a certainty. General Merrill is also chairman of an ex-commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. He is also chairman of the pension committee of that organization and is therefore considered to be particularly well equipped to assume the duties of Commissioner of Pensions and his appointment cannot be other than pleasing to his comrades of the Grand Army.

Naval officers are jubilant over the fact that Uncle Sam owns, in the new cruiser "Baltimore" the fastest war vessel in the world. And come to think of it, its something that all of us should be jubilant over.

It begins to look as though the fight before Congress for the location of the mammoth Worlds Exposition of 1892, would be between Chicago and Washington, New York, being apparently already out of the voice. Washington people have no fears, they know it will come here and already preliminary preparations are being made for it. —From our Washington letter.

The October Overland will contain an "Estimate of the Life and Character of David S. Terry," from the pen of Col. E. G. Waite, a personal acquaintance of Terry from early days, but of opposing political faith and personal affiliations. The article will present, especially to Eastern readers, a candid statement of the real place of the dead man in California history and in the minds of Californians.

When the Los Angeles girl bends all her energies to business she is a power in the land. It seems that they have an unwritten curfew regulation in the southern capital. Well, one evening lately a policeman met an eight-year-old damsel and asked her if she weren't out at an improper season, and she kicked the cop clean across the street into a pawnbroker's shop.

The death of Wilkie Collins will leave a wide gap in the ranks of English writers of fiction. Some of his work has become classical and will be remembered when the trash of today is dead and forgotten.

Editor Irish of the Alta notes the fact that Dr. Brown Sequard, the great exilir man, has been married three times. Well, what relation has that to anything in particular?

The Murphy-Warren fight was stopped in the 68th round by the referee because they were not doing enough damage to each other. Murphy had the best of it.

Reno supports five card horse poker and five faro games. Pretty good showing for an anti-gambling town.

The politicians, to use the language of the street, are "getting a move on themselves."
